Truman Death Plan Foiled In Blazing Gun Battle

Washington, Nov. 1.—(P)—Two Puerto Rican revolutionaries attempted to shoot their way into Blair house today to assassinate President Truman, but were stopped in a blazing gun battle with White House guards.

One of the would-be assassins was killed and a guard died of wounds. The second assassin was wounded, as were two other guards. All three are expected to live.

The President was napping in the bedroom at Blair house in mid-afternoon when the shooting began.

When Mr. Truman heard sounds of a gun battle in front of his home he rushed to the window to see what was going on.

Those bullets were intended for him.

Blair Entrance Stormed

Police reconstructed the Blair house shooting this way. Pennsylvania avenue was lined with government employees and officials returning from late lunches. Suddenly, one of the passers-by whipped out a German automatic and stormed the main entrance of Blair house, shooting at the officer on duty on the steps.

At the same moment, the second gunman cut loose at two officers outside a sentry box to the left of the main entrance. Then, from another sentry post to the right of the entrance, a secret service agent and a uniformed White House officer returned the fire.

Gunmen Drilled

Their bullets and the shots fired by one of the three wounded guards quickly cut down the two assailants. One White House officer, falling severely wounded to the sidewalk, took slow aim and drilled one of the gunmen squarely between the eyes. The attacker fell at the foot of the steps leading to the Blair house door.

Shaw's Condition Termed Critical

New York, Nov. 1.—(P)—Doctors report that Irish playwright George Bernard Shaw remains on the losing side of his battle with death. A medical bulletin last night said: "There has been no sharp change. He is continuing to go downhill." The 94-year-old sage lapsed into a coma at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and a village rector read a prayer at his bedside. Shaw's old friend, Lady Astor, told newsmen this afternoon, "He is dying." Shaw's housekeeper says the playwright lost all desire to live after his operations for a fractured thigh and internal complications.

Halloween Pranksters Concentrate Efforts on Greek Row, Old Cars

Goblins, spooks, and some persons described by the police as "about university age" played numerous tricks in the university area Halloween night.

On the campus, firecrackers were set off most of the evening. At the men's gym pranksters climbed up to the discus thrower at the front of the building and put shorts on him. In the Kaimin office a smudge pot was found the following morning.

Down Greek row, cars on porches was the order of the night.

At the Delta Gamma house an old Chevrolet, known as the Jet-Job, decorated the front porch. It was removed that night.

The Sigma Kappas had their Chevy, Ekie, placed on the front lawn. Down at the end of Greek

Scene Change Complicates Masquer Play

Carousels and concession booths are becoming part of the scenery at Simpkins Little Theater as work begins on the stage settings for the forthcoming production "Liliom," Nov. 27 through Dec. 2.

The play requires six scene changes including a carnival, railway embankment, park, court room, and Liliom's home. Abe Wollock, technical director of the theater, said that the appearance of the sets is not the only problem. The principal difficulty is in changing scenes with enough rapidity so that the continuity of the story is not lost. Mr. Wollock said that the stage lighting promises to be as difficult a job as has ever been done in the theater.

Nancy Fields, Missoula, and Charles Schmitt, Chicago, will act as technical assistants to Mr. Wollock. Included in the crew are Lloyd Paulson, Belt; Louetta Riggs, Larry Kadlec, and Alberta Swearingen, Missoula; Charles Cromwell, Couer d'Alene, Ida.; Jack Shapira, New York City; Tom Ellis, Ronan, and Harry Jorgensen, Springfield, Ill.

Mary Jo Peterson, Missoula, will be in charge of props; Masquer volunteers and the makeup class will do the "painting," and Audrey Linscheid, Vida, will direct costuming. Most of the costumes will be made or acquired locally, while certain period pieces will be procured from theatrical costuming houses.

MASQUERS CHANGE MEETING

The Montana Masquers will meet Friday at 5 p. m. instead of Thursday to discuss plans for a variety show, Nancy Fields, Masquer president, announced.

Roberts Calls For Hi-Jinx Entries Today

"Groups or individuals planning to participate in the Homecoming Hi-Jinx show must have their entries in today," Tom Roberts, Hi-Jinx chairman, said yesterday.

The theme for the show this year is "The University Through the Years." Groups entering are asked to plan their shows to fit one of six periods: Gay Nineties, pre-World War I, World War I, Roarin' Twenties, Thirties, and Modern.

Representatives from all groups will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Student Union lounge to discuss plans for the program, Roberts said.

A preliminary contest has been scheduled for Nov. 11. Six groups will be selected from among those competing to present their shows on the Hi-Jinx program.

Prizes amounting to $25, $15 and $10 will be offered this year for first, second, and third places respectively. Judges will select the three entries most representative of University talent, Roberts said.

Mountaineer Copy Deadline Nov. 13

Material for the Mountaineer, university literary magazine, will not be accepted after Nov. 13, Editor Robert T. Taylor announces.

Poetry, fiction, sketches, and articles will be considered for the magazine and there are no limits except those imposed by the size of the issue, Taylor said. Undergraduates, graduate students and faculty members are eligible to submit their writings.

Manuscripts should be left in the Mountaineer box in the anteroom in the first floor offices of the library building. All material should be submitted anonymously, but each should be accompanied by an envelope containing the title and the author's name and address. This is to ensure impartiality in selecting contributions and will greatly facilitate the return of unused writings, Taylor said.

Final plans are to be discussed at a meeting of the Mountaineer staff at 4 p. m. Thursday in Library 103. Advertising and business staff members and students desiring to work on the editorial staff are asked to attend the gathering.

Russe de Monte Carlo Is First In Concert Series

The ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, first in the 1950 Community Concert series, will be presented Tuesday in the Student Union auditorium.

Tickets for the 2:15 matinee and the 8:15 evening performances will go on sale today under the auspices of Bear Paw and Sinfonian, men's music honorary.

Monroe DeJarnette, Missoula, outside entertainment committee chairman, said a $2 ticket can be bought, entitling the bearer to attend the concert's four-program series. Students must have their activity cards with them in order to obtain the ducats at the Student Union building. Faculty members must buy a regular concert ticket from downtown organizations this year.

$2 Tickets

Because of the small student representation at last year's concert programs, it was necessary to raise the ticket price from $1 to $2 in order to pay the concert expenses, DeJarnette said. He added that there are only 1,400 seats available to students and that the policy would be first come, first served.

Ballet Russe, the first company to present the ballet nationally, is headed by Alexandra Danilova and includes Frederic Franklin and Leon Danielian in its staff.

14 Tours

This ballet, which is making its fourteenth annual tour of the nation, has a repertoire composed of 23 numbers, including "The Nutcracker," "Swan Lake," "Scheherazade," and "Giselle." The company added "Romeo and Juliet," "Prince Igor" and "Les Elfes" to its repertoire since its last tour.

Smith to Discuss Ethical Problems At Portland Meet

Registrar Leo Smith is one of four panel members who will speak about ethical problems of registrars at the Pacific Coast Association of Collegiate Registrars convention in Portland, Nov. 6, 7 and 8.

Smith's topic is "Ethical Relations Between Registrars and Registrar Offices." The speeches will be followed by a discussion of specific ethical problems, such as "What do we do when a student transfers from one school to another?"

Approximately 100 registrars from the Coast states, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Idaho, and Montana will attend the Portland meet.

Religious Emphasis Week Lunches Planned for Faculty

A series of four informal faculty luncheons are planned for Religious Emphasis week Monday through Thursday, Nov. 13 to 16. P. B. Lusk, chairman of the faculty committee, said that each luncheon will feature a different speaker and will be held in the Eloise Knowles room of the Student Union.

The Rev. Fr. Norbert C. Hoff will speak on the Communist philosophy vs. Christian-Hebrew tradition on Monday, Nov. 13. Rev. Hoff is pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church in Butte. He is a former professor of religion and philosophy at Notre Dame.

Nahas Will Speak

Gabriel Georges Nahas, M.D., M.S., will discuss Scientific Research and Mental Health on Tuesday, Nov. 14. Dr. Nahas is a research fellow of the Mayo foundation, a member of the Presbyterian church, a former agent of the French underground forces, and has received military citations from France and the United States. He has been a member of the executive committee of the French Student Christian movement for the last five years.

Milton A. Maxwell will discuss the integration of sociology, psychology, and religion Wednesday, Nov. 15. He is an assistant professor of sociology at WSC, where in the current program of the Ballet Russe are Balanchine, Massine, Petipa, Nijinska, Fokine, Lichine, Gsovshy, Cobos, Dolin and Danilova, Paul Strauss will conduct the symphony orchestra and Mr. Franklin will be the maitre de ballet and Michel Katcharoff is the regisseur.

Feb. 14 and 15, Ricardo Odnoposoff, prize-winning violinist, will appear and will be followed by Arthur Wittemore and Jack Lowe, a two-piano team on March 20 and 21. Nan Merriman, mezzo soprano, will give performances April 23 and 24.

Advanced ROTC Group To Choose Sponsor Corps

Advanced ROTC students will have the task Friday night of picking this year's freshmen Sponsor Corps members.

Scabbard and Blade, advanced ROTC honorary, is sponsoring a dance at the Orchard Homes Country club from 8 to 11 Friday evening. All advanced military students are invited and will have an opportunity of picking 18 girls from a group of 36 chosen by the present Sponsor corps.

The candidates chosen to attend the party are: Jerry Kuhn and Dolores Jordan, Alberta, Canada; Jewell Anderson and Neva Gnose, Wise River; Phyllis Trewak and Carol Boberg, Kalispell; Ilen Egger, Whitehall; Helen Lambros, Bozeman; Martha Rothie, Malta; Pat Kelley, Deer Lodge; Dolores Marick, Anaconda; Myrna Dolven, Harlem; Jerry Holland, Mary Ken Patterson, Marsha Oechsli, Martha Smithers, and Shirley Stanaway, Butte.

Race Relations Is Topic

George D. Kelsey, Ph.D., will discuss race relations Thursday, Nov. 16. Dr. Kelsey is associate executive secretary in field administration of the Federal Council of Churches. He has been a Baptist minister for 12 years. He has served as student assistant in the Robert Gould Shaw settlement house in Boston, served in the Norfolk prison colony, is a member of the National Protestant Council on Higher Education, and has written numerous books and articles.

"Faculty members planning to attend one or more luncheons are requested to make reservations with me as soon as possible, although the reservation deadline is Nov. 9," Lusk said.

Getting Ready To Crack Down

Action may replace words before too long. Tuesday, Central board considered the problem of campaign taboos and the consistent and flagrant violation of such. Upon reading the ASMSU constitution the board discovered that there are definite thou-shalt-not's but no penalties for violation. Heretofore enforcement of the rules has remained on a voluntary basis. This, obviously, has not worked.

The case that touched off Tuesday's discussion is the bizarre condition in which campus walks have been left following the campaign and elections of the past few weeks. Early in the quarter, when the Kaimin began growling about sidewalk painting and such, we were informed that we were taking an exceedingly hardnosed attitude as the decorations were applied with whitewash which could and would be removed following the election.

So it's whitewash. So it's going to be removed. When? Aberday? Green day? Maybe the University's centennial celebration in 1993?

From our window we can plainly see the advance guard of the season of the big snows. This leads us to suspect that nothing whatsoever will be done to remove the whitewash other than to allow time and nature to go to work on the stuff in haphazard fashion.

Although no definite action was taken Tuesday, several specific suggestions were advanced for Central board's consideration. The board could invalidate the election

Little Man On Campus

by Bibler

"Hey, Worthal, here's a letter for you from the dean of men. It's edged in black."

of any candidate who conducted a campaign in violation of ASMSU regulations. The board could chalk one up against any group that conducted an illegal campaign and could invalidate the group's candidates in the following election or elections. The board could require candidates to post a bond that would be forfeited if the campaign should get out of hand.

These are not idle threats. No candidate may run in a campus election unless his petition is validated by Central board and the board has the power and the right to decide what the requirements for validation shall be.

No concrete action has been taken so far. But if the interested parties do not show sufficient foresight to keep voluntarily within the bounds, definite election penalty clauses may yet be written into the ASMSU by-laws.—D.G.

Big Al Plans On Easy Winter

Big Al, a full-grown mallard duck, isn't going south for the winter, but is spending it at the Phi Delt house.

Last week for the float at the Butte game the Kappa Kappa sorority gave the Phi Delt a duck. At first Big Al was eyed for dinner.

When one of the members sharpened the axe, Gene Patch, Anaconda, stepped in and, playing the part of Pocahontas, saved Big Al's life. This week Big Al was made house mascot. Gene Patch was elected his keeper.

LSA MEETING TO HEAR THE REV. BRUCE WOODS

The Lutheran Students association will meet 5:30 Sunday evening in the St. Paul Lutheran church, corner of Brooks and Roosevelt, Dale E. Conover, publicity chairman, said yesterday.

The Rev. Bruce Woods, guest speaker, will talk on "The Christian Student's Philosophy of Life."

Vespers are a part of the meeting and supper will be served, Conover said.

Statistics Show Grizzlies Most Effective In the Air

Statistics of the first six Grizzly grid games show that Montana has been most effective in picking up yardage through the air.

Coach Ted Shipkey's eleven has far outdistanced its opponents in the passing game. Silvertip passes have brought a total of 989 yards gained this season while the opposition has been able to muster only 384 yards through the air. With Tom Kingsford doing most of the passing the MSU eleven has completed 62 of 117 passes.

The opposing teams have an edge in net yardage gained by running. So far, the opposition has picked up 1052 yards on the ground while holding the Grizzlies to 846 yards gained from the line of scrimmage.

The total number of yards gained by running and passing for the Grizzly team is 1835 yards. Opposing grid teams of the MSU squad have amassed 1436 yards by running and passing.

First downs find the Grizzly eleven in front as they have piled up 91 first downs to the opposition's 78.

Montana has scored 20 touchdowns while holding the enemy to 12. The Grizzlies have converted

WAA Volleyball Tourney Planned

A single elimination tournament in women's volleyball will start Friday afternoon, according to Deanie Parmeter, general manager of women's intramural sports.

In the round robin volleyball tournament, which ended Tuesday, New Hall No. 2 placed first in League A, and the Tri-Delt team won in League B. Fourteen teams participated in the tournament.

WAA managers and officials met yesterday with Miss Parmeter and Carol Fraser, Billings, to determine a schedule for the single elimination tournament.

Women's M Club To Sponsor Officiating Exam

A written examination will be given Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the women's gym for all women students who wish to obtain local and national ratings to officiate at volleyball games.

The Women's M club is sponsoring these examinations, Marjorie Anderson, Kalispell, president, said. If the applicant passes this preliminary test, she will take a practical examination. The student will become a volleyball official if she passes both of these tests.

In order to obtain a national rating, a national officer must supervise the examinations. Having a national rating will enable the student to officiate at volleyball games any place in the United States.

All women, regardless of class ratings, may take the tests, and obtain an official capacity, Miss Anderson said.

Sigma Nus Edge Sigma Chi; South Slips By Corbin, 2-0

The Sigma Nus poured on the steam in the last half of a California playoff yesterday afternoon to register a 9-to-7 win over the Sigma Chis. The win assured the Nus of the League A touch football championship. In the only other game played, South hall downed the ATOs, 2 to 0, after another playoff.

Bob Artz, Cut Bank, threw a touchdown pass to Kenny Williams, Miles City, on the second play of the game for the lone Sigma Nu score. Jim Lucas, Miles City, converted to make the score 7 to 0. The Sigma Nus continued to roll the next three quarters and literally pushed the Chinks from one end of the field to the other. Then, in the final minute of play, Hal McVey, Missoula, grabbed a Sigma Chi pass on the SN 30 and sprinted across the goal. Win Tustison, Billings, kicked the tying extra point. In the playoff Artz's pass to Francis Polutnik, Great Falls, provided the winning margin.

In the ATO-South playoff, an interference penalty proved disastrous. Wake Dahood, Anaconda, threw a long pass that fell to the ground on the ATO 10-yard line. An official ruled that an ATO defensive back used illegal tactics in breaking up the play, however, and the pass was ruled complete. Dick Pennington, Superior, Wis., and Leon Turk, Moore, were outstanding for the ATOs while Dahood and Conde Mackay, Anaconda, looked best for South hall.

Corbin hall forfeited their scheduled game to the men from Jumbo.

Students Will Form Mental Hygiene Society on Campus

A group of 12 campus student leaders met last Thursday night at the offices of the mental hygiene clinic for an informal organization of a campus student mental hygiene society.

Sponsored as a project of social laboratory field work, the group was called together by Lois Brandon and Bill McVeda of Missoula, and Gale Wegener, Livingston.

Working with them are the staff members of the local Mental Hygiene clinic: Dr. G. V. Holmes, psychiatrist; J. W. Donovan, psychological social worker; T. H. Winchester, psychologist; and M. Murray, secretary.

Students Studied

A better understanding of common student problems and the part that mental hygiene can play in solving them, as well as the creation of a better public attitude toward mental and emotional problems will be the primary aims of this discussion group.

"While the group now is necessarily small," Mrs. Brandon said, "we hope to be able to expand the society to include all students later. As we work together this quarter, we will be thinking in terms of affiliation with the National Mental Hygiene society."

Dr. Bolin to Speak

Psychosomatic problems among students will be discussed Thursday evening at their second meeting, with introductory remarks by Dr. Bolin of the university health service. A display of symbolic art works will also be studied, with an interpretation of them to be given by T. H. Winchester later in the quarter.

Dean of Students Herbert Wunderlich will lead a discussion of alcoholism on Nov. 9. If possible, a member of Alcoholics Anonymous will also be present that evening.

Problems of dating will be taken up by Dave Brody of the university counseling center during the quarter and problems of sex deviances will be considered by Assoc. Prof. Bert Sappenfield, university clinical psychologist.

At the last of the six weekly meetings, E. A. Atkinson, head of the psychology department, will present the pros and cons of affiliation with the National Mental Hygiene society. Professor Atkinson was recently elected state president of that group.

Evans Cites Korean Lack Of Know-How

"The relative inability of the Koreans to govern themselves necessitates aid from other nations, particularly the United States," Anne Evans said at the Tuesday meeting of the International Relations club.

Miss Evans was in Korea during the invasion and related her evacuation experiences. Her father was a technical advisor to the ECA in Korea at that time.

"Syngman Rhee found it necessary to carry on a dictatorial type of government to combat the people's lack of experience in government," Miss Evans said.

A senior in the psychology department, Miss Evans belongs to the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She went to Korea with her mother last June and returned to the campus this fall.

Will Hold Coffee Hour for Students

Anyone wishing to get acquainted with campus foreign students is invited to attend a coffee hour, sponsored by the Red Cross unit, this afternoon from 4 to 5 in the Student Union Bitter Root room, said Bob Nicholson, president.

Bob hopes at least one or two representatives from each living group will be present.

For entertainment, a humorous skit, "Life Gets Tedious," will be given by Delores Gilskey, Jackie Turck, Jan Janning, and Myrna Dovan, accompanist, all from North hall. Musical selections will be presented by one of the Kappas.

John Cowan, Red Cross delegate from ATO; and Ray Dockstader, from Corbin, are in charge of entertainment. Billie Johnston, KAT, and Marilyn Prideaux, Sigma Kappa, are on the food committee, while Pat Evans, Tri Delta; Bob Moran, and Mary Joan Tascher, secretary, are handling publicity.

KAPPA TAU TO MEET

Kappa Tau, senior scholastic honorary, meets tonight in the makeup room of the Student Union at 8 o'clock, Merton Robertson, president, of Whitetail, announced. Plans for the student directory will be discussed.
